

DELL EMC CERTIFIED MASTER ENTERPRISE ARCHITECT CODE OF CONDUCT

In making this application, I fully understand that this is an application and not a guarantee of certification. I agree to submit to the multiple steps of the certification program as defined by Dell EMC. I agree that I will not utilize any unauthorized aides during preparation, submission, or reviews. I further understand and, by my signature, attest that I now and at all times in the future, will adhere to the Dell EMC Certified Master Enterprise Architect (“DECM-EA”) Code of Conduct (the “Code of Conduct”). I further understand that any false statement or misrepresentation that I may make in the course of these proceedings and application may result in: the rejection of this application; the revocation of my DECM-EA certification, if I receive one; and the issuance of a complaint on said Code.

I understand that Dell EMC reserves the right to revise or update the application and board review process and the Code of Conduct. It is my responsibility to remain aware of Dell EMC’s current requirements. I further understand that I am obligated to inform Dell EMC of changed circumstances that may materially affect my application or certification status. I understand that it is my responsibility to provide Dell EMC with any requested documentation in connection with this application.

I understand and agree that if I am certified following acceptance of this application and successful completion of the requirements, such certification does not constitute Dell EMC’s warranty or guarantee of my fitness or competency to be an Enterprise Architect. If I am certified, I authorize Dell EMC to include my name in a list of certified individuals and agree to use the DECM-EA designation and related Dell EMC trade names, trademarks, and logos only as permitted by Dell EMC policies, but that I may opt out at any time by informing the Dell EMC Proven Professional Operations Team in writing. I understand and agree that Dell EMC may also use anonymous and aggregate application and board review proceedings data for statistical and research purposes.

Dell EMC Education Services may require recertification and revalidation in the event of major changes in architectural design requirements or reports from the field of violation of the Code of Conduct.

By signing this document, I acknowledge that I have received, understood, and agree to be bound by this Code of Conduct as a condition of any granted certification.

As a Dell EMC Certified Master Enterprise Architect (DECM-EA), I commit to:

1. Maintaining exemplary standards of professional conduct.
2. Striving to continually advance my knowledge and achieve higher levels of excellence.
3. Maintaining the confidentiality of all privileged information, including application or board review process and feedback, and other intellectual property of Dell EMC or Dell Technologies.
4. Adhere to the rules governing the maintenance of the certification should it be granted to me.
5. Provide feedback to the Dell EMC Proven Professional program on the application and board review process as solicited by Dell EMC.
6. Assist Dell EMC Education Services with any investigation related to exam, board review, or other certification program concerns as requested.
7. Maintain the integrity of my submission – all information included in my application, initial submission, board review submission and all other material is accurate, is my own work, and does not include any false or misleading information.
